Onions

Every time my mom chops onions she cries. I tell her “I’m so sorry but I just love onions.” She says, “I know I just want you to be happy” (say crying). What a great mom!

Dr. Scholl’s Odor Eaters

My dad’s feet stink. It’s impossible to grow any plants in our house cause my dad’s feet kill them. For his birthday we gave him Dr. Scholl’s Odor Eaters. He just slips them in his shoes and the bad smell goes away. Now we just have to do something about his breath.

Skippy

Peanut Butter is my favorite food. I could eat it for breakfast, lunch and dinner...Mom won’t go for that, but she lets me eat it a lot, as long as it’s Skippy Peanut Butter. I like it smooth. My sister Olivia likes it chunky. Skippy Peanut butter. Good food that tastes like a treat!!!

Kix

I tell my Dad all the time, “It’s time we had a serious talk about breakfast cereal. I know there’s one you love. We all love it. It’s got that great crunch, even in milk, plus they’re great right out of the package. (with a soft voice) Dad, Kix are for kids. Dad like always is not listening, (lowed voice) Kix are for kids!!!”

Limited Too

On the first day of school, I want to be noticed. So I got mom to take me to Limited Too. They have cool back-to-school clothes. Jeans, tops and awesome shoes. You can bet on the first day of school, I’m gonna be styling’!

St. Ives Lotion

I may be a kid but my skin feels like I’m 11 years old. So mom gave me St. Ives Lotion. I put it on right after getting out of the shower. The cocoa butter makes my skin soft. And it smells like banana and pineapple. So if your skin feels like your grandma’s get your mom to get you St. Ives.

We look forward to seeing you PERFORM!!
